Today in Family Ministry

For today's intergenerational worship, all children and youth are invited to participate in the Bridging Ceremony with Allie and Lena. Then, we will head up to the balcony (as we sing I Seek the Spirit of a Child) to enjoy the service with sermon bingo, coloring, and some of our favorite stuffed animal friends. Kids will return during our final hymn, Let the Life I Lead.

A nursery is available for babies and small children. To find the nursery, go through the leather door to the right of the pulpit and cross through the chapel. The nursery is on your left before the stairs.

May Share the Plate:
The Louis D. Brown Peace Institute

Louis D. Brown was a 15-year-old 10th grader who grew up in Roxbury with very big dreams: college, graduate school, a doctoral degree in aerodynamic engineering. Ultimately, Louis wanted to be the first African-American and youngest-ever President of the United States.

Louis said, "I want young people I went to school with and from my community to be active in my government. However, if things don't change, I'll be alone in the White House, because by the time I become president, my peers will all be dead, addicted to drugs, or in jail." Setting out to improve his community and to be a role model to his peers, he joined Teens Against Gang Violence.

That fall, on his way to a Teens Against Gang Violence meeting, Louis was killed in the crossfire of a gang shootout.

That was 1993. The next year, his extraordinary mother, Tina Cherry, honored her son's dream by founding The Louis D. Brown Peace Institute. Dedicated to education in peacemaking and nonviolence, the institute also assists survivors of homicide victims. For more information, please visit ldbpeaceinstitute.org. Thank you for your generous support!

A NOTE ON THE TEXT OF TODAY'S ANTHEM

The saying "it takes a village to raise a child" is often broadly attributed as an African proverb. Although scholars have struggled to find an exact source of the quote, there are similar proverbs found in several East African cultures. The Jita people (an ethnic group living in the Mara Region of northern Tanzania) have a proverb "Omwana ni wa bhone," meaning "regardless of a child's biological parent(s), its upbringing belongs to the community." In Swahili, the proverb "Asiye funzwa na mamae hufunzwa na ulimwengu" approximates to the same.

Today, we sing these words in honor and celebration of the many ways we nurture our children together and build family within our community and throughout our world.

*HYMN

Gospel Truth Tylan Greenstein & Ingrid Elizabeth

Everybody got pain aching in their heart,

They got pain, aching in their heart,

So don't hold back, cry out loud,

Share it with a neighbor when you feel low down.

The truth shall set you free, set you free, set you free

Glory Hallelujah, you'll be free

Everybody got fear, trouble in their heart,

They got fear, trouble in their heart.

So don't hold back, whisper in my ear,

Share it with a neighbor, watch it disappear.

The truth shall set you free, set you free, set you free

Glory Hallelujah, you'll be free

Everybody got joy shining in their heart,

They got joy shining in their heart.

So don't hold back, smile real wide

Share it with a neighbor all the light inside

The truth shall set you free, set you free, set you free

Glory Hallelujah, you'll be free

Everybody got love warming up their heart,

They got love warming up their heart.

So don't hold back, reach out a hand,

Share it with a neighbor, help them understand

The truth shall set you free, set you free, set you free

Glory Hallelujah, you'll be free

Everybody got change jangling in their heart,

They got change jangling in their heart,

So don't hold back, throw your two cents in,

Share it with a neighbor and you're both gonna win.

The truth shall set you free, set you free, set you free

Glory Hallelujah, you'll be free.
