The Wednesdays: Flannery O'Connor

Wednesdays, October 14th and 21st ~ 6:00 PM, Frothingham Library

Join Professor Alan Helms and Reverend Kim for an unforgettable reading adventure! Alan writes, "Flannery O'Connor is unarguably one of the finest American writers of the past century, especially famous for short stories which feature working class oddballs and misfits. Supreme in all aspects of her craft—plot, dialogue, characterization, description, pacing—she writes with such precision, psychological acuity, and dark humor that once read, her stories remain indelible. For my money, her only peers among American short stories are Faulkner and Hemingway, and I would rank her first among equals."

We'll be reading from Flannery O'Connor, The Complete Stories (FSG Classics). There are many copies on Amazon for $5.00.

For each of our Wednesdays, Alan has combined a short story with two longer ones, to even out your readings. We'll discuss the stories as follows:

October 14: "The Turkey" ~ "Good Country People" ~ "A View of the Woods"

October 21: "The Life You Save May Be Your Own" ~ "Everything That Rises Must Converge" ~ "Revelation"

Friday, October 16th ~ 7:00 PM - 9:00 PM, Sanctuary

General Admission: $25 / Benefactor: $30

In this talk, Jon Kabat-Zinn will outline the widespread, growing interest in mindfulness in society and its actual cultivation through practice. Jon will investigate the potential perils of mindfulness divorced from its ethical moorings and deep practice. Has mindfulness been reduced to a mere (and misunderstood) concept, rather than understood as a life-long invitation to recognize and embody what is deepest and best in humanity?

Day of Mindfulness Practice and Dialogue with John Kabat-Zinn

Lesley University's Washburn Hall, 10 Phillips Place, Cambridge, MA

General Admission: $125 / Benefactor: $175
